Hamelin, a 160-year Success story

It all began in 1864 in Caen, Normandy (France).

Ernest Hamelin founded the stationery company that would bear his name. From ledgers and accounting books, the family business evolved over the years to focus on school and office supplies. The Hamelin Group has always placed understanding consumers and innovation at the heart of its strategy. This approach has established Hamelin as the European leader in the notebook market with the OXFORD brand. Today, 14 state-of-the-art facilities manufacture notebooks, filing products and more. All are centered on product quality, continuous improvement, and reducing the environmental impact of production. Over 3,000 passionate employees, alongside the descendants of Ernest Hamelin, continue to write the Group's story with the same goals: pushing the boundaries of paper and providing users with the best tools to learn, study and make their projects and dreams become a reality.
